

Global Gas Training

Nexant's Global Gas practice offers a range of training programmes and training solutions designed by experienced professionals. The programmes have been structured to ensure that they extend effectively the knowledge of participants and draw attention to current issues facing the gas industry both regionally and globally.

We provide a range of public and corporate (in-house) training programmes. These programmes feature interactive courses which inform and develop understanding of key topics of interest to various national and international stakeholders involved directly or indirectly in the gas business. The training courses are run by gas specialists who are internationally recognised experts in the topics covered and delegates will benefit from their practical experience as much as from their sound knowledge of the gas sector.

PUBLIC PROGRAMMES

Public courses have been designed to be of interest to course delegates by addressing a variety of issues affecting the development of the natural gas business regionally and internationally. Courses are updated regularly to reflect key developments.

Public courses include:

- Gas tariff & pricing design and methodology
- Regulation and licence conditions
- Gas sales and purchase & gas transportation contract negotiations

IN-HOUSE MODULAR PROGRAMMES

Corporate programmes provide the support for meeting in-house training and business needs. Courses can be tailored to suit the level of knowledge and expertise of the individuals attending the programme from new-starters in the gas industry and other businesses to senior managers and seasoned professionals.

In-house programmes can be tailored versions of the public courses and/or expanded to comprise additional topics including:

- Gas demand forecasting and investment planning
- Gas trading and hubs
- Network code development
- Establishing regulatory pricing and tariffing mechanisms
